

City under Microscope

2nd to 5th February 2011

Tallinn (Estonia)

Discover the Past to Build the Future

Tallinn, the 2011 European Capital of Culture, is hereby proud to welcome you to the first City under Microscope event in 2011.

As your official host in Estonia, we in Tallinn are grateful for the opportunity to introduce you to an exceptionally unique city that gained its city rights in the year 1248 and which has an old town that is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage site.

This promises to be an extraordinary City under Microscope and we hope that you enjoy your stay in snowy Tallinn.

After Malaga in southern Europe, our LUCI City under Microscope program takes us north to the City of Tallinn for a very promising event. Over the years, Tallinn has developed a remarkable lighting strategy regarding both temporary events and permanent lighting. This City under Microscope will offer a thorough insight into the technological and artistic choices that have contributed to making Tallinn one of the most attractive cities in Europe. I would like to warmly thank the City of Tallinn for hosting this event and giving LUCI members another unique opportunity to meet and share their experiences.
