welcome

In recent years Montreal has displayed plenty of innovative thinking and design by using lighting to put its architecture, cultural life and public art « under the spotlight ».

I am proud that the world's experts on lighting strategy will convene in Montreal with elected officials to discover our accomplishments and visit some of our lighting masterpieces.

These projects, along with more to be completed over the coming years, are part of a comprehensive plan that has received four awards already, including one of the prestigious International Illumination design awards.

After our Annual General Meeting in San Luis Potosi, the LUCI network pursues its discovery of lighting on the American continent with a City under Microscope in Montreal.

The City of Montreal that has developed over the years a true competence and capacity to innovate in lighting, with its lighting festival and a specific approach in districts like the Old Montreal and the Quartier des spectacles.

In the framework of this City under Microscope, participants will have a unique opportunity to explore in detail this lighting strategy, as well as the technical and artistic choices that have made of Montreal one of the most prominent lighting cities of the world.

I wish all participants a fruitful conference and memorable visits. I predict many of you will want to return and contribute to some of our major upcoming lighting projects, including the Quartier des spectacles.

Gérald Tremblay
Mayor of Montreal

Thank you to the City of Montreal to give us this extraordinary opportunity and I wish a fruitful and constructive City under Microscope to all the participants.
